Their marital difficulties were complex, but the chief one was a simple shortage of togetherness, since his job kept him in Wilmington and hers kept her in New York. Additionally, her husband's ideal of conversation was very divergent from her own. He enjoyed talking about money, sports, and politics with other men and bottled up all his deeper feelings. He hears them shouting to each other but cannot make out the words. All of a moment, then tried to jerk them loose the next The rope was very useful indeed, and neither. It isn't the realists who find life dreadful. It's the romancers. After all, which group is trying to escape from life?
