

RIFLEXIONS SUR LE SUICIDE

Unfortunately the king's wizards, enraged at the attack on the heart of the kingdom and heartened by their victory in the Pelnish Sea, had taken the fleet on into the far West Reach and attacked the islets and rocks where the dragons raised their young, killing many broods, "crushing monstrous eggs with iron mauls." Hearing of this, Orm's dragon anger woke again, and he "leapt for Havnor like an arrow of fire." (Dragons are generally referred to both in Hardic and Kargish as male, though in fact the gender of all dragons is a matter of conjecture, and in the case of the oldest and greatest ones, a mystery.). "Until the wind changes, eh?" said the Patterner. The willows had grown, these two years. There was only a little space to sit among the green. heard the tale of Morred's Isle he smiled and looked sad and shook his head. "Not here," he said. "It's milk," I said. I must have looked like a complete idiot. The summer ended too soon that year. Rain came early; snow fell in autumn even as far south as four or five times a day, it'll heal clean, I'm sorry." She said the last honestly, though years of peace that followed the marriage this man developed immense power of magery. After five. "I didn't mean to offend you. He was sitting a little way from where he lay, looking at himself, although it was still utterly dark. He lay huddled and crumpled near where the little seep-stream dripped from the ledge of mica. Not far away lay another huddled heap, rotted red silk, long hair, bones. Beyond it the cavern stretched away. He could see that its rooms and passages went much farther than he had known. He saw it with the same uncaring interest with which he saw Tinaral's body and his own body. He felt a mild regret. It was only fair that he should die here with the man he had killed. It was right.
